

Snapshot/ Impression of the Hong Kong Wetland Park

This is a shot I took at Hong Kong Wetland Park last Friday. The bird is called Pied Avocet. As you see, the Pied Avocet's tuft has a patch of white and black. Its beak is curved upward. Also, its feet are slender and a little bit orange. Pied Avocet always uses the beak to forage in mud. It eats fish and bugs. It lives in mudflat. It is so pretty.
