MATILDA

She is a very clever girl, and although she is small, she does everything by herself, such as cooking breakfast, changing clothes and going to the library.

One day, Matilda goes to school and meets the principal, Miss Trunchbull, who is very terrible. So she ignores the principal and meets a new friend, Lavender. Matilda's teacher Miss Honey is beautiful and kind. Miss Honey treats Matilda nicely.

Another day, Miss Trunchbull punishes Matilda's classmate and throws the classmate outside the window. But Matilda has enough magic to hold her classmate. In the end, Miss Honey and Matilda use magic to play tricks on Miss Trunchbull.

I think this film is funny but a little bit naïve, so I would like to recommend it to families because I think it is suitable for children to watch with their parents.

Lam Cheuk Yi, Sandy 3A

This film is about Matilda, who is born into a rich family but her parents don't care about her so she is ignored by her family. But Matilda is very smart; she does everything by herself.

Matilda goes to school before she grows up, but the head teacher at the school is terrible. Her name is Miss Trunchbull, and she loves to fight with her students so they are very scared of her. However, in the school there is another teacher called Miss Honey who is a sweetheart. Miss Honey is like her name, very sweet like honey. She is kind to her students. Also, she really loves Matilda and finds that Matilda is very smart.

In the school, many people hate Miss Trunchbull. Then Matilda starts to use her smart mind to play tricks on Miss Trunchbull.

I am going to compare and contrast a movie from the 1950's and a movie from the 21st century.

In the movie from the 1950's, 'Love is A Many Splendored Thing', the people speak in English and the movie type is a love story. There is more harbour and green scenery such as hills and grass. The old school style is dresses and suits. The transport is old fishing boats. No cars are driven. There are fewer people and the technology is slow.

In the movie from the 21st century, 'Rush Hour 2', the people speak in Chinese and English. The movie type is action and the actors are African American and Asian. There are many people and it is very crowded. The transport is taxis and buses, and there are more buildings. It is very busy and the technology is very fast.

To compare them, I think the 1950's film is better than the 21st century one because the air quality is better than it is in the 21st century. However, the technology of the 21st century is better than that of the 1950's. Also, they are both filmed in Hong Kong.

I prefer 'Love is A Many Splendored Thing' to 'Rush Hour 2' because it is a love story.

Leung Yuen Ting, Jade 3A

The new one and the old one have many of the same places in them as they are both filmed in Hong Kong; however, one is set in the 1950's so the new one has many different places. Let me tell you about them now.

The new film and the old both have foreign actors. But in comparing them, the new one has many people and cars while the old one has fewer. The old film is a love story but the new one is an action film. In the new one there are many buildings and it is crowded, but the old one just has many hills and a lot of grass. In the schools the style has changed too much, and the international school in the old film only has English but in the new one it has Chinese too.

I really like the new one, because the view is better and there are more people and cars so it makes me feel good.

Lo Wing Sum, Petrus 3D

Movies are changing all the time. Here, we are talking about movie culture; let's compare and contrast a movie from the 1950's and a movie from the 21st century.

'Love is A Many Splendored Thing' is a movie from the 1950's, a love story, and 'Rush Hour 2' is an action film from the 21st century. Both of them are filmed in Hong Kong and performed by foreign actors, but the new movie has more than one language while the old movie just uses English. Another difference is the old movie's transportation is old fishing boats but the new movie has taxis and buses. There are many beautiful and tall buildings in the new movie; however, the buildings in the old movie are small and traditional.

That's all I want to talk about. I prefer 'Rush Hour 2' to 'Love Is A Many Splendored Thing', because I think the scenery in the new movie is much better.

Thailand is a very famous place that many people are interested in visiting. It is one of the best known countries in the world. Thailand is famous for its culture, clothes, food and places to visit.

The best dish in Thailand is mango and sticky rice. If you ever go there, you must try it! The food is very spicy as they put a lot of chilli in it, so you'd better keep a water bottle with you! The fish sauce flavour is also commonly used in every dish; it is very tasty! So never miss any famous dishes in Thailand. If you try them once, I am sure you will never forget the taste!

The second best thing in Thailand is the clothes!

Gill Saranpreet-Kaur, 3A

Thailand is a famous place where the food is very spicy and there are some traditional dances, Thai boxing and beautiful beaches. There are some delicious foods to eat in Thailand. Let me introduce some famous dishes.

The ginger has a fresh smell, and its colour is light brown on the outside and yellow on the inside. The texture of ginger is dry. It is always used to kill the bad smell of fish.

Chilli is fire red in colour and the shape is long and thin. Also, it is shaped like a small banana. It is strong and dry, and smells spicy. It is always used for making curry chicken and tom yum soup.

Lime is green in colour. It looks like a ball, is juicy and smells sour. It is always used for making juice.

Leung Yuen Ting, Jade 3A

Most of the Thai food is very spicy. The Thais always use a lot of flavouring to cook their food, so most of the food smells good. For example, tom yum soup; this is one of the most famous foods in Thailand. If you go there, you should drink this soup. It tastes sour and spicy but quite good!

Mak Jun Si, Jessie 3A

Thai food is very special because it is spicy and also sour, like spicy fish with chilli. I don't like these things but I do love some sour foods, like lime. It tastes good and looks like a lemon.

Thailand is also famous because they have many beautiful sea views; many people enjoy this very much. In sport, Thailand has the red mask dance and Thai boxing; these are very exciting for many people.

Thailand has so many things; it is cheaper than many other places and there are many very big shopping malls. People also like shopping at the night markets, as there is a lot of jewellery such as necklaces made of shellfish and many other things.

Thailand also has many zoos, so people can see animals like tigers, elephants and bears, and if we pay money we can feed them too.

Thailand has many cold desserts like cakes or rice ice cream; all the food tastes good so many people like it very much.

Lo Wing Sum, Petrus 3D

Thailand is a famous place where the food is very spicy. There are some traditional dances too, so Thailand is one of the most popular countries for travelling.

Thai food is delicious; thus, there are many people who go to Thailand to try it. Let me introduce some Thai food to you.

Welcome Message

Over the past few weeks, Form 3 students from Heung To Secondary School (Tseung Kwan O) met to write a magazine featuring different perspectives of creative writing. This magazine is the end result.

Reading any magazine is much easier than writing one and it takes time to develop ideas and plan what should be included - especially when the whole content of the magazine is about a specific topic. As you can see, the students did an excellent job.

It was a great pleasure for Typhoon Club to work with your colleagues and we were also very impressed by the time and commitment that the school's teachers gave to this project.

We hope you enjoy reading this publication and maybe it will encourage you to pick up your pen and start writing your own creative stories.

Lady Gaga is a famous singer. Her full name is Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta. She was born and raised in New York City. She is very stylish, fashionable and trendy, but she wastes a lot of money on expensive clothes. She also designs clothes, like her beef dress; this wastes a lot of food, too! She wears clothes which are too sexy and can't cover her whole body.

'Fashion' is a song sung by Lady Gaga. It tells how she likes fashion a lot and wants to wear all different kinds of clothes from all the famous and expensive brands.

Fashion is important. It is good to look nice and pretty, but we should not go to the extreme level of fashion. I don't agree with Lady Gaga saying, "You are what you wear", because some people are not so rich so they will not buy expensive clothes, and some people who are very rich and buy expensive clothes are not very beautiful! I don't think people will change their style to that of Lady Gaga's, as everyone has their own style.

should be careful about finding friends on the social network.

Lastly, I think the government should do what South Korea does and block people under the age of 18 from playing these games between midnight and 8:00am; this should be a rule for Hong Kong.

Lo Wing Sum, Petrus 3D

Many teenagers love playing computer games, and some of them have been getting addicted. This addiction is when teenagers can't stop playing computer games, and if they can't play them they feel as if they will lose their lives and almost die!

Those teenagers who are addicted to playing computer games may think the games are really fun or they may want to relax from the pressure of homework or school. But I think the most important reason for this happening is that teenagers have a lot of peer pressure, because when their friends play computer games they make others play too; so one friend makes another friend play and so on, until there are many teenagers playing computer games.

Some of the effects of this problem are teenagers having tired eyes, painful hands, and worst of all ignoring their families.

Playing computer games is not all bad, but we shouldn't play them all the time, just sometimes is OK.

Wong Kei Yu, Coraline 3A

Many teenagers love playing computer games, and some even become addicted to the virtual world. The problem is a global one, and is particularly sensitive in Asia. These teenagers are addicted to computer games and physically dependent on them.

People become addicted to playing computer games because they think it is fun and exciting. Since the game designs are good and people have stress with their jobs and homework, they play computer games to relax. Also, the peer pressure from friends makes them play. When teenagers feel bored or lonely, they play computer games with virtual friends on the computer. By doing so, they can make online friends and feel less bored and lonely. Moreover, teenagers can win many times in the virtual world, play with other players and create competitions.

Lam Cheuk Yi, Sandy 3A

With regard to online addiction, a lot of students play computer games because of peer pressure. Also, they think it is very interesting, fun and exciting. But some people play computer games because they feel bored, have nothing to do, and don't like to study or go to school. Some just want to win the computer games they play with others and enjoy the competition, and some just want to relax after study or school.

Playing computer games too often is not good, as it will make your eyes tired. If you play more and more computer games and spend lots of time on it, you will make yourself unhealthy because you don't exercise. If you have a family, it will make you ignore them or neglect your children. It is easy to become addicted to playing computer games, and it makes you forget to do other more important things.

We can play computer games, but shouldn't spend a lot of time doing so. I think the government should order people to play for a certain time and no longer, as this will be better for them.

Leung King Man, Phoebe 3D

Many teenagers have an online addiction. It can start because they are bored or don't have too many friends so they always go online to talk to others. But they don't know that playing on the computer too much is not good for their daily life.

Now, I would like to tell you about the bad things that happen to people who play on the computer too much. They spend so much time on this, and then they don't have enough time to exercise and their school marks go down a lot. If they only stay at home, they leave many friends behind or ignore their families, and some people play for so long they don't sleep or eat!

But playing computer games also has some good points. It can make people feel free, and they can enjoy playing and being happy if they can always win. Also, sometimes playing computer games can teach us many things or make us think about things by ourselves.

I know many people have this addiction because they feel so unhappy with their lives so don't like to see their friends or go out to play. Also, maybe they feel bored and lonely. However, I think if they can find something else they love, they won't like this any more and can ask their teacher or a family member to help them. I think they

Lady Gaga is the most popular and famous American singer and songwriter today. Also, she is a fashion icon. She has a song called 'Fashion' in which she comments about the effect fashion has on girls. The lyrics say she likes the famous brands, and how they are so popular and expensive. Also, she wants to be a model just like teenage girls. She uses her beautiful voice and so many brand names to tell us what she wants and what she wants to be.

But I disagree with her statements like, 'You are what you wear.' If ugly people wear beautiful clothes, do they become beautiful? I don't think so! Maybe fashion isn't important to me, but she is influential among young people and you can see some people wearing her style of clothes at her concerts.

Put simply, she is a fashion icon for young people and teenagers.

Choi Timothy, 3D

Lady Gaga is my god! She is a great singer. She has a heart for her music and is very professional. Also, Lady Gaga always wears new clothes in her shows, and then her fans follow her new styles.

'Fashion' is about many brand names that many women love. I think fashion is important. When you are fashionable, other people will respect you. But I don't think about this when I am deciding what to wear, because clothes can't reflect our personality.

Lady Gaga is influential among youngsters, because when we listen to her songs we can feel her love. So Lady Gaga's songs can change our lives.

Wong Kei Yu, Coraline 3A

Lady Gaga is a famous singer and songwriter. She began performing in the rock music scene at the end of 2007 and was signed with Streamline Records. Her fashion sense is very special. She has her own style for clothing, such as the beef dress, and she likes to wear some sexy and very strange clothes.

'Fashion' is one of the songs sung by Lady Gaga. This song is about how Lady Gaga likes fashion very much and wants to recognise all the designers. She wants the designers to help her to design her clothes. Also, she wants to wear different kinds of clothes.

I don't really like fashion, but I will sometimes wear fashionable clothing. I don't think Lady Gaga is influential among youngsters as not many teenagers will follow her fashion.

Mak Jun Si, Jessie 3A

Lady Gaga is a famous singer. Her songs are popular among young people. As you know, many people think fashion is an important thing in modern society, and Lady Gaga is like a fashion icon for people.

What is her fashion? Perhaps it is about her beef dress, mannequins, posters, and so on. The designers make them beautiful. Lady Gaga's fashion is one of a kind; she doesn't copy anyone. She has her own fashion sense even though some people don't agree with or accept it.

However, I don't think fashion is very important for our lives. You are not what you wear. Although a dress you wear is beautiful, you are yourself and that point does not change. Lady Gaga pays so much attention to fashion that she makes me forget she is a singer and is famous for her songs!

Lam Ka Yee, 3D

Bang! A spaceship crashed into the Pacific Ocean. The spaceship opened, but it was so bright that we couldn't see anything. A beautiful young lady came out of it...wait! She was not a lady; she was a cute white alien! The people on the ferry were shocked to see her! They were shocked that an alien looked the same as a human, but her skin colour was white. She wore a protective yellow and grey shiny dress.

People were asking, "Is she an angel?" "Is she a fairy?" "Is she a Goddess?" She said, "Earth is in a lot of danger so we have to save it. I am from the future but my master sent me to the past, which is the time now. I have to do something before it is too late." A man asked, "Save the Earth? But save it from whom or what?" She answered, "Earth is full of dirty pollution and is badly affected by global warming, so we have to change the bad habits and the environment."

So she used magic to take the bad air pollution and global warming away. She made Earth a paradise and ordered everyone to save it and never make it bad again. When people saw her using magic, they started to call her 'Miss Magic'.

Miss Magic knows how to control weather and time, so she helps the needy ones and makes the Earth green too.

Gill Saranpreet-Kaur, 3A

Magic keys! Suddenly, where there had been an empty space a door appeared. 'Bang!' A girl came out. Her name was Lucy, and something that looked like a dog came out with her. Lucy said her special power was horoscope magic, which uses a key to call the fairies of the horoscope such as Virgo, Leo and Pisces. It allows her to predict the future.

One day I'd found the keys, which had some pictures of the horoscope on them. When I tried to use them, suddenly there was a 'Boom!' and a 'Bang!' and Lucy came out. She said she was the fairy of the horoscope and could predict the future by telling me who was in danger, who would be hurt, etc. So after that I became a superhero. I don't wear a special costume; I only need to wear casual clothes and hold the

Recently in South Korea, a government department ordered three online computer games companies to block people under the age of 18 from playing their games between midnight and 8:00 am. This rule was made after police found a baby had starved to death at its home while its parents were at an Internet café playing an online game where they had to look after a virtual baby!

Addiction is a physically dependent obsession, and it might make you become a murderer, as with the case in Korea when the baby was starved to death by its parents! Also, a British woman ignored her children and her pet dogs starved to death, just because she was addicted to playing computer games! Anybody can play these games, but not everybody is an addict! Professionals say it is easier for teenagers to become addicted to playing computer games. The reason is they might not be able to handle their study or relationships, or they may feel lonely and want to escape reality to release their pressure.

Boom! Mr. Wong the chef had an accident. He was in a hurry and riding his bicycle at full speed. The road was hilly and he had a lot of cooking utensils with him, so he lost control of his bicycle. His bicycle went from left to right, right to left. Then the road finished and a tram appeared in front of the bicycle. Mr. Wong screamed “Nooooo!”

“My head...!” cried a boy called Jack after the accident. A pot had flown into the sky, and when it came down got stuck on Jack’s head. Jack struggled with the pot, but he failed. “Ha, ha, you look like a chef, it’s so funny!!” giggled the girls. Mr. Wong the chef said, “Give me back my pot, I need it. I am already late for the competition, I can’t miss it. I have to get it back and go right now!”

As Mr. Wong had hurt his left arm, Jack decided to help instead of trying to struggle with the pot. They went to the Wan Chai Queen Elizabeth Stadium for the cooking competition. They started to cook in front of the judges. The judges were impressed by their hard work and cooperation.

At the end of the competition the judges announced the result. “The winner is Mr. Wong the chef, with his young assistant chef!” Mr. Wong stood up and was going towards the stage. He was very happy and excited to get the award, but suddenly the fire alarm started to ring and the judges ran away and some firemen came in. There was a fire on the gas stove caused by another competitor’s pot. So the fireman with the moustache said, “You are the only person left, I am sure you did it!” The chef shouted, “No, I am the winner! I did not do it; my pot is stuck on Jack’s head!” So the firemen thought for a while about what they should use to remove the pot. Jack was worried and he hid under a table. After a long time, they asked Jack to sit down and they removed the pot. Jack was overjoyed.

Gill Saranpreet-Kaur, 3A

“OOOOOHHHHHH!” cried Anson. ‘Boom!’ He crashed into the tram. The onlookers did not know what had happened to him. The passengers looked out and could see Anson had fallen onto the road with some crockery. They were shocked. They said, “Are you OK?” Anson answered, “I am fine, but I need to go quickly to participate in a cooking competition. I am late now, so I must get there as soon as possible.”

“Who can help me?” asked Tom. Some people came into the kitchen and saw that the pot was stuck on his head. “Ha,ha,ha!” the girls giggled. They said, “What are you doing in there?” Tom answered, “The pot got stuck on my head. I am trying to pull it off.”

Anson had hurt his right hand in the crash. “Tom, please help me to cut the vegetables into pieces,” he ordered. The judges used their notepads to write something about the dishes cooked by Anson. Tom was assisting Anson during the competition. “Why are you wearing a sling, Anson?” the judges asked. “It is because I hurt my right hand in a crash, so I need an assistant,” answered Anson.

The workers thought about which tools they would use to remove the pot, the axe or pliers. While Tom was hiding under the table, Anson was holding the whisk in his left hand and having an argument with the workers. They needed to leave.

Suddenly, they pushed the door open and ran out. “Thank you for your help,” said Anson and Tom. We are saved!” Meanwhile, the judges said they had won the competition.

keys in order to know if anything bad will happen.

When this happened I said, “Open the door of Virgo, Baluge!” ‘Bang!’ A girl came out from the ground.

Little Green Man is from outer space and he is a superhero.

One day, Little Green Man came to Earth on the space bus because he wanted to travel around Earth. While he was shopping one day, the shopkeeper saw him and thought he was a toy, so he packed Little Green Man into a box.

The next day, a child named Andy saw Little Green Man in the box and thought he was lovely, so he bought him as his toy. At Andy’s home, Little Green Man made a good friend for Andy.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Some bad guys came to find Andy and he was very scared, so Little Green Man used an axe to fight the bad guys. Then the bad guys were scared away by Little Green Man.

After Little Green Man saved Andy’s life, he became a superhero. Now he always saves children’s lives when they are in danger.

Wong Kei Yu, Coraline 3A

‘Boom!’ Suddenly, a man was coming towards me and walking in a really cool way. ‘Whoosh!’ What was that sound! Smoke was coming out, and after a few minutes the man disappeared! “Hey! Was that man Superman?” someone asked. It was really dark in the city and no-one was talking. ‘What’s going on?’ I thought. ‘What’s happened? Why is no-one talking to each other? I think something has happened in the city! Should I help them to solve the problem? But I am not a superhero, so how can I help them? I am just a normal person!’

Last night, I dreamt I had super powers. I was super talented and could do anything I liked. I could fly everywhere and shoot from my eye. What amazing, strong power! ‘Ring, ring, ring!’ “Time to wake up, Marcus!” said Mom.

When I was going out, I felt something happen. I felt the city was in danger. A few minutes later, I saw an alien destroying the Earth. He was breaking all the towers and stepping on the streets. I wanted to kill the alien. I tried to fly and was surprised that I could fly in the sky. I felt a strong power around my body and realised I could do anything. I used my fire ball and ice ball to kill the alien, but the alien did not die because he wasn’t afraid of fire and ice! I needed to think of another method to kill the alien, so I tried to use my powers. I bit it, kicked it and blew on it. At that moment, I remembered my dream last night.

Wong Hei Nam, Dee Dee 3A

“AAAHH!” shouted the chef. He crashed into the tram because he was in a hurry! Every passenger was shocked, and all of the crockery in his bicycle basket fell onto the ground. “Are you OK?” one passenger asked.

“Do we need to call the police?” suggested another.

“I am OK, don’t worry about me!” the chef replied.

“Oh my God! Where did this pot come from?” a boy yelled.

“Ha, ha, ha!” Everyone in the street was laughing at him “Oh, I am sorry,” replied the chef. “I had a crash and all my crockery flew across the road!”

“Oh no, I can’t take the pot off!” screamed the boy. “How can I get it off?”

“Em...,” said the chef, “I am in a hurry now and my arm is hurt. I am going to join a cooking competition; can you assist me? After that, I can help you to take off the pot.”

The chef and the boy performed well in the competition. After that, the chef tried to think of some way to solve the problem, but he couldn’t so he called the firemen for help.

When the firemen arrived they started to argue. “Why did you put the pot on this boy’s head?” one fireman asked.

“No, I had a crash,” replied the chef.

The firemen were thinking about how to get the pot off, but in the end they didn’t have any ideas either so the pot stayed on the boy’s head forever.

Cheung Oi Yiu, Nika 3A

One sunny day, Mr. Funghi the chef was going to a cooking competition. He was cycling along the road in a hurry, going faster and faster. He was so careless, he crashed into a tram.

“Oh my God, it hurts!” screamed the chef. “You scared us!” shouted the passengers.

“Oh! My crockery and tools!” cried the chef. Because of the crash, maybe he wouldn’t get to the competition on time. Maybe he would die!

At the same time, a boy was standing nearby. ‘Pop!’ ‘Ouch!’ A pot was stuck on Jacky’s head. He struggled to get it off and his friends started to giggle. “You look like a big head!” they laughed. “Ha, ha, ha, you look like a fool!”

“Umm, mm, mm...help! Take it off!” shouted Jacky.

“Next is Mr. Funghi,” announced the organiser of the competition. When they walked in the judges were shocked, because Mr. Funghi was using a sling to protect his right arm and letting his son Jacky assist him in the competition. The spotlight was shining on them and the pot. ‘Fried with one hand; a little child helped to mix,’ wrote the judges on their notepads.

When they had finished the competition, some workers were collecting the cooking tools, but the whisk was Mr. Funghi’s and the pot was stuck on Jacky’s head. “Why not use the axe?” suggested one man.

“But it might kill the child,” replied another.

So can we use the pliers?” suggested a third man.

“No, it is too slow, and we must hurry!” replied a fourth.

“So what can we do?” asked the third man.

“You must give it back!” yelled the head worker. But Mr. Funghi argued with him and shouted, “I am the owner!” At last, the workers tried using the axe to crack open the pot. “Ah! Don’t kill me!” screamed Jacky “What happened dear?” asked Mr. Funghi.

“I had a bad dream!” cried Jacky.

Choi Timothy, 3D

‘Boooooooom!’ “There has been an accident,” said the passengers. The chef, Mr. Mo, was in a hurry and riding his bicycle very fast. He steered his bicycle from right to left, left to right. He lost balance and then... he crashed!

At noon, Mr. Mo and Jacky went to the TVB studio to join a cooking competition. They were standing in front of the judges and the spotlight was focussed on them. Although Mr. Mo was hurt and needed to use a sling to protect his hand, he could still cook some delicious food for the judges. Jacky was assisting Mr. Mo to cut the vegetables. Because Mr. Mo was cooking so well, the judges were writing many positive comments on their notepads.

‘Boooooooom!’ An accident happened one morning. The chef, Mr. Mo, was in a hurry and riding his bicycle at full speed. There were many cars on the road. His bicycle went from left to right, right to left. He lost balance and fell down on the road. His bicycle crashed into the tram and his crockery fell down.

Ho Ka Wing, Carrie 3A
