

A Visit to Hong Kong Wetland Park

Today, I visited Hong Kong Wetland Park with my classmates and teachers. We went there after having our lunch. I went to Hong Kong Wetland Park because I wanted to learn more about Wetland. We went there by school bus.

The air was very fresh and I felt good there. There were many facilities in the park. There were bird hides. In those bird hides, I saw a variety of birds, such as Egrets, Kingfishers and Black-faced Spoonbills. The environment was really beautiful.

The Life Lab and Wet Lab in the Wetland Discovery Centre are for us to study stream and pond life. There were also many galleries to show different aspects of wetlands. We walked around the park and explored the nature habitat.

In this field trip, I learnt more about wetlands. I understood the functions and values of wetlands. I also learned the importance of wetlands to wildlife. We need to protect wetlands and the endangered species.
