“When I open the secret, I am playing the hide-and-seek with my cousins, Tom and Mary”.

Last summer I went to visit my grandpa in New York. It is a beautiful house. I discovered a big laboratory in the basement when I tried to look for a secret place to hide myself.

My grandpa is a scientist. He looks very funny. He likes telling jokes to us.

His laboratory had many white mice in the glass cases. I found a blue bottle on the table. I was attracted by the blue liquid in the bottle. It made me feel like flying in the sky. I tried to taste one drop from the bottle.

In a minute, I found my body was strangely painful. Oh, my arms became small wings! I could fly up to the ceiling. I was very scared that I would be a monster forever. I saw everything clearly from the ceiling. I found a strange box with beautiful Chinese calligraphy on its cover. I thought there should be valuable things. I flew to the box and opened it carefully. Oh, there were examination papers. I could see all of them were zero marks. When I read the name, I could not believe my eyes. All of them were my grandpa's name, Tony Jar. At the moment, I heard my cousins call me outside. I did not want to frighten them with my wings.

Suddenly, my wings disappeared. They came in and found me sitting on the floor. I closed the box immediately. I knew I would never tell them this secret.
