Possible ways of dealing with bullying

The phenomenon of bullying in school is increasing significantly in these several years. Many news recorded that many students were facing the bullying problems committed suicide as the psychological state of victim will be affected by bullying.

The main reason of increasing the phenomenon of bullying is media. The media impose the wrong concept to the public. On the other hand, there are many computer games about violence and the gangsters are addicted to it. The wrong concept of the media and the content of computer may affect the psychological state of teenagers. They may think that bravery is equal to violence. Thus, it will try to bully others in school.

There are several feasible ways and measures to get rid of the bullying problems.

First and foremost, the government should inspect the computer games company and the media company. It should ensure that these companies will not impose the violence concept and heroism to gangsters. The government should control the content of the advertisement and computer games.

Secondly, the school should wet up some schemes to pledge the victims preventing from bullying. For instance, the award scheme. The school can give some merits and certificates to the reporting student. It can encourage the students to report the bullying cases. Beside, school can create the student mentoring scheme. It can arrange come senior form students to take care of the junior form students during lunchtime or after school. It can prevent the junior form students to get involved in bullying courses.

Last but not least, the victim should form a helping group. The bullied should have the meeting to discuss how to protect themselves. On the contrary, the bullied student can raise money to invite the kung fu tutor. Apart from discussing the method to protect themselves, they can also learn the kung fu techniques in the meeting. After they learnt the kung fu technique, they can protect themselves when they face danger.

First and last, the phenomenon of bullying is becoming service these years. We should take action toward it. Beside, it is vital to follow the ways to improve the bullying problems. I believe that if the government takes more inspections in the media companies and computer games companies, it can combat the bullying cause.
