

An Accident at the Restaurant

Last evening, I was having a dinner in Yummy Restaurant with grandpa and grandma. Because it was Saturday night, there were many people at that time.

When I was eating, I heard someone yelling behind me. When I looked around, I saw the two kids chasing each other, playing hide and seek. They were about 6 years old. They have short and straight hair and the girl wore pointed skirt. A waiter saw them and tried to stop them playing and running in the restaurant because there were many people there and it was very dangerous. But, they didn't listen and played again.

Then a waiter walked out from the kitchen carrying the hot soup on the tray. Suddenly, the kids were running near the waiter. When the waiter walked in front of the kids, they pushed the waiter on the floor, and the soup poured on the girl. The girl's skirt was wet and she felt painful. Then, she cried loud in the restaurant. The customers looked at the girl.

Finally, she felt ashamed because all the customers looked at her and talked about her. The waiter gave a new skirt to her. Their mother felt angry at the girl for doing this thing.
