

Animal Ambassador for Ocean Park

2A YoYo Hui

Sea lion has been the Animal Ambassador for Ocean Park for many years. In these few years, Ocean Park added more animals, like dolphin, shark and penguin, to be the new attractions. To promote these attractions, I will choose penguins and spotted seal to be the new Animal Ambassadors. These two animals are so adorable that people really love them very much and the spotted seal looks a bit silly, so people will think they are cute.

Penguins are furry and fat. Different species of penguins have different sizes. Its colour of fur looks like wearing a suit. Both spotted seal and penguin have lots of fats to keep them warm. They are very special because they live in Arctic and Antarctic, which is far away from us. The spotted seal has an optimistic face all the time.

Penguins and spotted seal are chosen to be the new ambassadors because I think they can teach the public to conserve the wildlife and raise the awareness of global warming. They can bring the message of animal conservation.

To conclude, penguins and spotted seals should be chosen as animal ambassadors because they can bring the message of animal conservation. I think everyone would agree with me. If they are chosen to be the animal ambassadors, they can educate the public to protect the wildlife and marine animals.
